

SchoolOne Names Winner of Charter Schools Week Contest

We're pleased to announce that our friends at the Southeast Neighborhood School of Excellence (also known as SENSE Charter School) in Indianapolis, IN, are the recipients of a $500 technology award from SchoolOne. SENSE took the top spot in our Charter Schools Week giveaway to reward the school with the most posts on our SchoolOne Facebook page.

SENSE met us at the National Association of Public Charter Schools conference in Chicago last June when Assistant Principal Karen White visited our booth. When Ms. White received our email about the contest, she was the first person to post on our wall. She then shared the email with Outreach Coordinator Jamie Fahrner who posted news about the contest on the school's social media sites and urged families and friends to become involved. Congratulations to SENSE Charter School for their great use of technology to win a technology prize!

Noting how desperately SENSE needs updated technology in many areas, Ms. White said, "We plan on using the prize to buy a set of digital cameras and video cameras to use for reading and writing workshops, project-based learning times, building digital stories, field trips, and after school clubs."

While SchoolOne is grateful for everyone's participation in the contest, two schools in particular deserve special mention for their efforts. Turquoise Trail Elementary Charter School in Santa Fe, NM, and Menlo Park Academy near our headquarters in Cleveland landed in second and third place, respectively. All of the schools that participated showed enthusiasm for their schools and students and great support from their staff and families. Congratulations and thanks to all of the schools that entered.

SchoolOne is committed to supporting Charter Schools through its web-based Student Information System (SIS) and IT services to K-12 schools. The SIS allows 24/7 access for staff, parents, and students to school information and student progress. The SIS also is integrated with ActivProgress, a data management and social learning system, and partners with mobile learning platform Studywiz. Our technology services are customized to the needs and budget of each school, with the goal of maximizing existing technology and pairing that with other best-in-class solutions.
